Majorana Machine

That machine works and does just what you think, but a thousand other things much more useful
That machine to function needs at least 2 people that activate and only works if the intentions are positive
Its operation can not be explained by classical physics, not even glancing
Remember the Tesla effort to make it clear to Einstein the existence of Ether? that effort went in vain, modern science has been piloted since then towards a wrong path, Majorana long after one had noticed and left everyone and everything, he was not willing to share his knowledge with people driven and trained by the bankers' money from that moment the Einstein theory has gained the upper hand with the consequences we know. I can only say that energy pervades the entire universe, matter is this energy condensed from consciousness units, this matter has hardly more energy and burn it in some way will never lead to anything, the energy or free energy It is sought with a different mind. The Ether energy is cià that generates matter and not vice versa. ZPE is that which before was called ether, this ether pervades the universe level so infinitesimal that it also exists in interatomic space, and also inside of atomic particles. Tap into this energy we had arrived Tesla, and someone even today has figured out how to do.
